

Does this sound familiar?

"I love going out, but also enjoy staying in and watching a movie." (Really! How unique)

"I love to travel but consider myself a homebody." (At least I learned you are indecisive)

"I'm very close to my friends and family." (Um, if you weren't close to your friends, then they wouldn't be your friends)

Are you sick of reading internet dating profiles that sound identical? Tired of asking a woman out because her picture looks like Jessica Alba and on the date she looks like Rosie O'Donnell? Have you come to the shocking conclusion that every guy is looking for someone funny, smart, caring, and warm?

If you are over the age of 24, Jewish and are looking for a meaningful relationship with a Jewish person that actually matches their description, then you need to KEEP THE FAITH.

KEEP THE FAITH is a Jewish dating service where clients are screened in a relaxed face-to-face interview. The interview is confidential and non judgmental. There is a small fee for each interview in the form of a $36 donation to your synagogue.

Give KEEP THE FAITH a call (516-455-4373) so we can actually learn about who you really are and give yourself the opportunity to meet people that you would really like. It is just a phone call away to find that new meaningful relationship. (Parents of "SHY KIDS" feel free to call for them)
